Starting Friday, July 31, 2015 until January 2016, the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA), which oversees Muni, will replace the Blue Light emergency telephones and radio communications system in the Muni Metro subway between Embarcadero and West Portal. To minimize disruptions, we are integrating the two communications improvement projects.

Project Benefits

- The current radio and emergency telephone system is over 40 years old, initially installed in the 70's. The system upgrades will improve the safety and reliability of Muni Metro system.
- Replacing 90 old Blue Light emergency telephones with 181 new units will improve emergency communications for Muni customers and first responders.
- The radio project will replace the old analog system and upgrade it to digital technology. It will greatly improve communications with operators and support personnel.

What to expect during construction

- Construction will require early subway shutdowns nightly from 10 p.m. until start of service at 5 a.m.
- During the shutdowns, bus shuttles will provide substitution service between Embarcadero and St. Francis Circle from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Regular rail service will continue to operate at all outer stops.
- To ensure that the tunnel is clear, depending on where you catch the train, service might end as early as 9:30 p.m. (example: Embarcadero to clear as early as 9:30, whereas Castro last train may be at 9:45).
- Muni Metro customers can board bus shuttles at the island F Line stops adjacent to subway stations on Market Street. Bus shuttle will make regular stops between West Portal and St. Francis Circle.
